THE 67TH SAUSAGE FEED IS ON!!!!

Sunday March 7th

To go only

The Community Building Board members felt it was important not to let Covid break the tradition! Please contact Lynn Smith (509-229-3627) or Brian Bannan (509-229-3463) to see how you can help out.

How can we make this work this year???

Good question, to keep everyone safe the event will be “to go” only and..

Meals will be delivered to cars on Washington St. behind the Community Building.

Traffic on US-195 both north and south will be directed by signs to Owen St. by the Coop. then to Washington St. Washington St. will be one way from north to south.

Please avoid using Washington St. and those streets that cross it on the day of the Feed.

Thank you, U.C.B. Board

Uniontown Library Ideas

Relax after the holidays by curling up with a good book! The library has a variety of books and if we don't have what you are looking for, we will do our best to get it. Want to browse the library even when we are closed? Visit us online at www.whitco.lib.wa.us. Our online catalog has cover photos, summaries and often books reviews. Drop by or call any of our branches if you would like some help using the catalog.

Uniontown Library hours are: Wednesday 2-6 and Friday 9:30-1:30. Currently with the Covid-19 restrictions the Library is limited to a 2 person occupancy at a time.

Reading is a basic tool in the living of a good life.

While there are a number of ways to integrate water conservation into your daily routine, here are some tips that will prove useful during the winter months:

- Insulate water pipes in unheated areas.
- Drip your faucets when it is extremely cold
- Check for leaks after first thaw
- Know where your property shut-off valve is

THANK YOU TO ALL THE VOLUNTEERS WHO HELP WITH THE TOWNS HOLIDAY DECORATIONS. IT IS GREATLY APPRECIATED.

Another Story Headline

Place your stories in order of their importance. For example, your most important story should be at the top of the page. Less important stories, or stories that may appeal to a smaller portion of your audience should be lower down on the page.

Use paragraphs often. A wall of white text makes it hard for the reader to skim a story and find a way to quickly drop in and out of your content. White space gives the user an opening into your information. Don't be afraid to leave spaces open.

You might also designate a consistent spot on the page for lighter, or more editorial content. That way the reader always knows where to look for a certain type of content.

Most successful publications include a mix of content types to satisfy a wide range of tastes. Consider putting your most serious content on the front page, and your lighter content inside.

It's called a story for a reason

Integrate frequent headlines to announce different sections of your story. Consider writing your content in a personal tone, in the same way you might talk to someone sitting across from you at a restaurant.

Sidebar Story Headline

Sidebars complement a main article. Use them when you want to keep your main articles direct and information packed, but you still want to share extra or supplementary content.

For example, if your main story is about your new building plans, consider using the sidebar to talk about the history of the land plot, or to tell a story of your first encounter with the property.

Another Story Headline

Your headline is an important part of the newsletter and should be considered carefully.

In a few words, it should accurately represent the contents of the story and draw readers into the story. Develop the headline before you write the story. This way, the headline will help you keep the story focused. Examples of possible headlines include Selling Your Home and New Office Opens Near You.

If you have to break a headline into two rows, try to find a natural break in the content. Each line should stand alone so that your readers can easily understand what is in the story even while skimming.

Newspaper editors consider headline writing like poetry. How can you get the reader's attention and draw them into the story in only a few words?

Meanwhile, you don't want to give too much away, or the reader doesn't even have to read the story to understand the content.

Uniontown Regional Holiday Lighting Challenge 2020 Update

This year, UCDA sponsored the Second Annual Uniontown Regional Holiday Lighting Challenge and received 19 entries (1 business and 18 residential) plus enough donations were received to give each entrant a prize. Local businesses donated prizes and well as other local and not-so-local people who donated cash to purchase more prizes and cover expenses (stamps, envelopes, etc.). The winners, entries and prizes received will be listed on the Uniontown website: www.uniontownwa.org

Thank you to everyone who decorated. All of your hard work made Uniontown and Colton very bright and welcoming for the Christmas season.

Wishing everyone a Happy New Year and all the best in 2021

As more snow arrives, it is a great help if you can park your car as far off the street as possible. This makes plowing much easier. All residents are responsible for the snow in front of their driveway.
